Chapter of Accidents at City Power Plant May Interfere With Service For Some Time

Employees, Headed by Commissioner Ormsby, Had Busy Night—Trouble Originated With Pumping Plant, Where Steam Was Being Taken From the Power Plant.

The public is warned that fully normal conditions in respect to the supply of electricity in the city may not be reached for a few days.

The following was the breakdown at the plant on Monday night, and as the biggest machine, which had been repaired, was not available, the load up to the present is now out of commission. It will be a while before the repair is completed.

Commissioner Ormsby says that it is certain that the plant will be fully stripped, thus putting this machine out of commission.

Monday night was a busy night for the power plant employees, and there is no wonder that at the end of the night there was a general all in. Commissioner Ormsby, who is manager of the plant, says he did not get to bed until 2 o'clock Tuesday morning.

He says that the power plant has been working hard to get things working again, and that there were no dry shifts throughout the night.

The first trouble originated in the pumping plant, where steam was being taken from the power house into the pumping plant, and the pump was not working, a valve, and is connected with the pumping plant and condensing plant at the power house.

For the purpose of giving expression to their regret at the departure of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Brookbank from the city and to show their esteem for their services to the community, the Rotary Club had a special evening meeting on Tuesday, when the members were present.

The big machine, a 400-horse power motor which carried the major portion of the load, was started, and then it was stopped, and the lights were taken out.

With great difficulty a spare machine which had not been operated for some time was started, and some of the time the city was entirely without power.

The power plant was the largest in operation, and the meeting was unanimous in the expressions of their regret at the departure of Mr. Brookbank.

With the help of the members of the club, Mr. Brookbank had taken and maintained the largest in operation.

This is from One and a Half to Two Cents Over Price for Weeks

It has remained for Northern Alberta to wait a new standard in stock prices. While it is only one steer that brought the money, it is still worth it to the breeder.

Grande Prairie last week, one animal, a Shorthorn, shipped by B. C. Sculley, brought 13 cents over price, which is one cent over the average.

The Edminton and Ukrainian railroads have inaugurated a special service to the fall stock show in Chicago.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1919.

Qualified in Ignorance.

The French Chamber of Deputies has ratified the peace treaty, less it is to be suspected, because the members are satisfied that because nothing else seemed to be possible. The course of the long debate has made clear that French sentiment is not satisfied that the terms imposed by Germany are either sufficient punishment for crime or sufficient guarantees to France against future attack. But the treaty represents the maximum that France could get from the Peace Conference, and there is little alternative but to accept the terms offered or break with the Allies.

France, however, has one advantage. It at least knows what the terms are. The French Parliament has ratified the treaty or it in fact of the declaration of the acting head of the Government that he did not know what compensation Canada is to get from Germany.

Why the Loon?

It would very materially help the prospects of the forthcoming Victory loan—assuming that there are good reasons for it—if the country was given an explicit official explanation of what the money is wanted for. Thus far it does not seem to have been thought necessary to tell the public why the money was wanted, but sufficient to simply issue calls to subscribe in the name of patriotism.

It will be a mistake to proceed upon that assumption. While the war was going on, the public said the loon and fowl had to be supplied to the army, and so far as argument went it was only needed to remind people of that obvious fact. But the war is over. Military operations no longer concern us. Demobilization also is understood to be about through with the loan, from all that can be gathered, is for a large sum to be used in the balance of the war account and pay the demobilization costs. What is it proposed to do with the balance?

Some seemingly officially-inspired assurances have appeared in the papers that the bulk of the money is to be spent in Canada. That is hardly sufficient. Public money may be spent in Canada and in other countries for things that could well go along with it out in a time of stringency. And, with all respect, the record of the present Government is not adequate assurance that that will not be done with the proceeds of the proposed loan.

Neither is the Government sufficient guarantee that the money will be used to pay debts due to the Allies, including debts sold in foreign markets. The Rumanian loan, four dollars out of five of which went to the manufacturers, has not yet escaped the public notice. The proposed loan will complicate that transaction on a wholesale plan the tax-payers at least have a right to know.

And whatever the purpose is, will it add to the standard of national finance to tell them. It is not inconceivable that the loan may fail to float, unless the public are told why it is desired to have it. That is the first, and greatest, in war time, to raise money for almost any purpose, but it is not safe to assume that it will cause the citizens to trust him more than it does to a Government in which he has no excess amount of confidence and for purposes which are not explained to him.

The Indemnity Session.

The difference between this extra session of Parliament and a month's holiday is that no one price.

would pay the members as much for doing nothing for four weeks as they are paying themselves from the public purse.

Investigation In Order.

The breakdown at the power house may be only an event that was due to arrive at any time, which could not be foreseen, and for which no one is responsible. But it may be due to one of two other causes.

The company may have allowed the plant to run down until it is in an unreliable condition, and thrown back on the hands of the city an assessment of worn out machines any one of which is liable to go at any time. The other hypothesis is made less likely by the fact that the company appear to have been either practically bankrupt, or unwilling to pay their bills for fuel and to keep the plant going with remarkably few interruptions of service. Neither can it be denied that in preparing for a strike the plant was operated as a civil service, and that the breakdowns were of such frequent occurrence that it was an event if we got through a week without the interruption of the lighting or power supply of the city.

On the break-down may be merely a reminder that we have returned to the system of civic operation. Whatever may be said or discovered, the course of events is what they keep the plant going with remarkably few interruptions of service. Neither can it be denied that in preparing for a strike the plant was operated as a civil service, and that the breakdowns were of such frequent occurrence that it was an event if we got through a week without the interruption of the lighting or power supply of the city.

The circumstances call for a thorough investigation, conducted not for the purpose of proving any pre-determined conclusion as to where fault lies, but of finding out what went wrong.

If the plant is in a state of collapse because of mis-use by the company the city council ought to know it. If the return to civic operation means a return to the era of interrupted services the citizens ought to know it.

Boots And Shoes.

The net result of the inquiry into boot and shoe prices appears to be the discovery that there are no large profits in the retail boot and shoe business, and that the profits that are reported of shoes of foot-wear are likely to go to levels not yet reached.

The inquiry, like the previous inquiry into the price of coal, illustrates the indifference of probing here and there into the retail prices of a commodity the prevailing price of which is fixed at the factory, and which has undergone no appreciable increase in cost of price.

MERCHANTS. Merchants are called for these local tribunals and made to spread their business records before their competitors and the public to show that it is not in the retail cost of manufacture that fortunes are being made.

WHAT IS TRUE. What is true of the boot and shoe trade is doubtless equally true of other branches of mercantile business, and it is to be hoped that all the storekeepers in the country have entered into a compact to commit perjury and falsify their records, it has to be hoped, to save the public from being imposed upon.

WHAT IS TRUE. This is the essential fact about it. The price of the cattlemen's Steel Corporation and the union leaders are by and large the same as it was when it had failed, the American Federation of Labor, the Knights of Labor, and the Bolsheviks renounce the evil doctrine of force.

Case For Great War Veterans is Presented to Committee by G.W.V.A. Advisory Committee

Detailed Plan for Re-establishment is Submitted—Plan Proposes Development of Resources from Both the Human and Material Standpoint, as Means of Re-establishing Soldiers' Re-establishment Units.

OTTAWA, Oct. 8.—The case for the war veterans was presented to diers' civil re-establishment by the members of the Great War Veterans Association, at a meeting this evening.

The further requirements of re-establishment, as disclosed by the Metcalfe as follows:

(a) A generous standard of re-establishment, including a sum of deduced compensation and all items of a cost of living, and provided with adequate educational opportunities for the children of such soldiers.

(b) Adequate provision for all those who did not transfer to the overseas army, to be eligible for re-establishment, provided that they can be classified as combatants.

(c) Adequate financial resources to enable the government to maintain the commercial, agricultural or industrial life of the community, and elasticity to provide for individual requirements.

(d) Special restorative care of those who have suffered physical or mental physical debilitation due to war service with the removal of all cause for disability.

(e) Life insurance facilities for disabled ex-soldiers, and a sum of ordinary life insurance enabling them to safeguard the future of their dependents.

(f) Suitable educational advantages for the children of ex-soldiers, who have been materially interrupted and retarded by their parents' war service, and the extent to which aid in re-establishment may be given to those who are not able to benefit from the educational opportunities of the community.

(g) Adequate medical treatment for all Canadians irrespective of military rank or service, and for all ex-soldiers in the Imperial forces, or in the case of dependents, for whom the service was accomplished prior to November 11, 1918.

(h) Reasonable assistance for all those who require aid in re-establishment, and for those who have lost a large portion of their income or loss of efficiency on active service in order to maintain their dependents in accordance with the standard of living of the community.

The detailed plan of re-establishment was submitted to the members of the G.W.V.A. committee. Briefly summarized, the plan provides for the development of resources from both the human and material standpoint, and for the re-establishment of the soldiers as productive citizens. The plan is designed to apply only to those who are able to establish their needs for assistance in accordance with their present status.

The extent to which aid to be given to the dependents of ex-soldiers will be determined by the date of enlistment and date of service.

The various forms of re-establishment proposed in 1918, and the method of financing them will be equally. The total gross expenditure available to the Ex-Soldiers.

The principle is to make re-establishment available to the disabled next-of-kin by means of financial grants from the government, and to provide the same benefits which may have been available to the dependents of soldiers of the Allied and Imperial forces in Canada prior to November 11, 1918.

Provision is made for the anticipated needs of the coming winter by a certain grant to be made to the disabled next-of-kin, this year, to be used by the person concerned to meet current and future expenses. The balance of the grant to remain under the government's control.

The basic plan of re-establishment goes forth for the maximum grants as follows:

Estimated 1914-15 service in Canada—$1,000.

Estimated 1914-15 service in France—$1,000—total—$2,000.

reaching France in 1919, the grant will be $1,000. This is graded down until a man enlisted in 1918, service in Canada, and $1,000 for
